SELECTED ADMINISTRATIVE RESPONSIBILITIES AND SERVICE ATTITUDE

Fisher College of Business, The Ohio State University

Interim Administrative Appointment, July 2007-present. Assumed responsibilities associated with senior associate dean's position during interim period in which search for a new dean is underway.

Associate Dean of MBA Programs and Chair of MBA Program Committee, May 2003-present.

Highlights of recent MBA program initiatives are:

The creation of an outside-the-classroom curriculum for leadership and professional development that provides students with an opportunity to assess and further develop their leadership capabilities, gaining high-quality leadership and networking experience and advancing their skills in ways that support their personal and professional goals. The curriculum includes a program of individual assessments and leadership and team skills developmental workshops, a faculty mentoring program for students, an ethics in business workshop, a student-led community service program, speaker series and executive luncheons, technical skills development workshops and a program to support student self-assessment, career planning and development.

A restructuring of core curriculum to strengthen the core experience and provide earlier access to elective curriculum.

A restructuring of the elective curriculum to increase opportunities for students to customize and individualize their course of study by utilizing an option to create their track or major, and by taking courses in other parts of the University. The creation of new curriculum in international business, sustainability, and risk management.

Establishment of a career-coaching program for students passionate about careers in investment banking and consulting, in partnership with Career Services.

Working with students and faculty on the development and implementation of an honor statement for the full and part time MBA programs.

The creation of a student-led consulting organization within the Fisher MBA program, Fisher Professional Services, hired director from consulting industry.

The revision of academic standards and adoption of new, more consistent grading policies for Fisher's full and part time MBA programs.

The establishment of a "Career Connections Fund" to subsidize student-organized recruiting and informational trips

The development and implementation of new strategies for recruiting top MBA students in the full time and part time programs, and continued efforts in this area

The development of a web-based information portal for admitted students

The design and launch of specialized career development "boot camp" programs for MBA students in various areas of interest including finance, real estate, marketing and operations, logistics and supply chain management involving faculty, staff and top practitioners

Support of the creation and success of student-led flagship events involving top practitioners and serving the community such as the Fisher CFO Summit and the Fisher Investment Banking Seminar (MBA finance association), the Fisher Workshop on Salary Negotiations (Fisher Graduate Women in Business), the Fisher Forum for Women in Leadership (Fisher Graduate Women in Business) the Fisher 5K Run for the Children's Hunger Alliance (Fisher Serves), Fisher Black History Month Events (Black MBA Student Association), Fisher Chinese New Year Event (Chinese Business Professionals Association) and the Indian Subcontinent Cultural Celebrations (International Business Association jointly with other students, clubs and organizations)
